

VETERANS ARE TOLD THAT ROOSEVELT MUST BE DEFEATED

Republicans Have Given The Veterans Every Benefit
They Ever Received

PAUL DAGUE SPEAKER

J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., Raps
Administration for Its
Un-Americanism

"The Republican party has given the veterans in the United States every benefit they have ever received from the government and the Democratic party has taken away or attempted to take away every benefit the veterans have ever received," was the way Paul Dague, formerly vice-commander of the Pennsylvania veterans, summed up veteran governmental measures when he addressed a large number of veterans here last evening at Republican Headquarters. J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Esquire, also spoke to the group.

Dague pointed out that in spite of promises the present Administration has not helped the veterans in any way as yet.

"Veterans are still smarting, not at the fact that Roosevelt vetoed the bonus measure twice, but because he spoke over a nation-wide radio hook-up on the occasion and in fact called the veterans a bunch of panhandlers and treasury raiders," Dague said.

"And to further show the lack of interest of the present Administration in veterans' affairs you will recall that two were killed in a riot in a past administration, but because of willful neglect 200 were killed in the Florida hurricane when all of those men could have been saved."

Dague, who was formerly a marine and who also served as chairman of the Chester county organization, has spent considerable time in Washington.

Spencer & Sons Announce Their Special Fall Sale

In an announcement in today's Courier, Spencer's furniture store, at Mill and Radcliffe streets, extends an invitation to the public to attend its annual Fall showing of the 1937 living room furniture.

"Never before have I seen such wonderful design," said Edgar Spencer, one of the firm, in talking about the exhibit. "There are so many different styles and all built in such a manner that they assure the greatest medium of comfort."

"As a special offer we will give an electric food mixer free with each purchase of a Kroehler living room suite during this sale, which starts today. Our entire stock of fine suites has been reduced lower than the regular price to introduce them to our customers," added Mr. Spencer.

Harry D. Vasey Has Party On His Sixth Birthday

Harry D. Vasey, son of Mrs. Edna Vasey, 316 Harrison street, celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary, Wednesday evening, by entertaining a few little friends. The guests were invited to mask. Games were played and refreshments served. Harry was presented with a cake decorated with candles. He also received many gifts.

Those present: James Lovett, Frank Lynn, Jr., Earl and Doris Vasey, Donald DeLong, Paige Stewart, Oscar Tomlinson, Stanley Morgan.

Prof. Ernest Wagner Addresses Rotary Club

"Training for chemistry and chemical engineering" was the subject for a talk given by Professor Ernest Wagner of the University of Pennsylvania, at the afternoon meeting of the Bristol Rotary Club yesterday at the Elks' Home.

Prof. Wagner, who is a nephew of Dr. J. Fred Wagner, told the large number of Rotarians present that the training begins in the freshman year and continues in intensity until graduation.

Refuting the argument that those students who study in smaller institutions of learning receive better training and more individual training Prof. Wagner said that this is not true because in the larger institutions there is usually a better and larger teaching personnel and more equipment. Prof. Wagner has studies in both small and large institutions and has likewise taught in both small and large institutions and it is on this basis that he made his contentions.

The Rev. S. Brooks Knowlton spent his last regular session with the Bristol club yesterday as he will move from Bristol very shortly. The Rev. Knowlton was the secretary of the local service club. As a remembrance for his services and his membership here E. Leslie Helwig made a presentation on behalf of the club of a pen and pencil set.

TORRIJOS, Spain, Oct. 23.—(INS).—We got up with the crack of dawn and begged coffee from the Legionnaires whose vast copper caldrons of black stuff were already boiling before the sun came up. I looked at my mattress when I rose and was glad it had been so dark when I lay down. The mattress was brown with blood. I was glad to get out of that lousy house.

We drove on down to the Guadarrama River in a cavalcade of automobiles, because by now every newspaperman in Spain had realized that this front was the most important one. At the river we had to wait for a general order to let us cross and go forward to the front. John and Arthur and I got very hungry around noon and found a little camp of Legionnaires presided over by a Legion woman, all dressed up in uniform.

She told us she was Senora Hernandez, wife of the Sergeant Hernandez, and that she was permitted to come along because she was a first aid nurse. They had a big bowl of Spanish beans, and with true campaign generosity invited us to pitch in. She gave each of us a spoon and we lunched heavily. Sergeant Hernandez cut up a big sausage, and set out a bottle of acrid Spanish white wine. We contributed some fresh tomatoes we had picked up along the road.

Then John and Arthur and I went down to the river, up stream, and took a bath, the first in a week. Very satisfactory too, though the water was not deep enough to come much above your ankles.

This gave us an idea. Everybody else was waiting for a formal permission to cross with our cars over the improvised bridge of sandbags which had been built to replace the big stone bridge blown up by the Reds. But nobody had issued us any formal order forbidding us to cross the river.

So about 3 o'clock in the afternoon we loaded up our knapsacks with a few cans of food and a bottle of water apiece, went down stream about a hundred yards, lay there awhile, then waded across and climbed a hill, struck the main road for the front and tramped along.

I have never seen such a blood-stained road. It was splashed with red, but there were several trails which went along for miles, showing the drip-drip-drip of a wounded man who could not check the bleeding. We

EXPENSIVE OVERLAPPING

Before the Roosevelt Administration there were TEN agencies dealing with the production and distribution of power. In 1935 there were TWENTY-THREE agencies concerned with it.

Housing problems were being considered by FOUR agencies before Roosevelt. In 1936 FIFTEEN are dealing with it. FOUR government agencies were making loans to farmers four years ago. Today there are THIRTEEN agencies engaged in making such loans.

Just FOUR examples of overlapping in government functions for which the taxpayer must pay.

PILING UP HUGE DEBT

Pennsylvania is going in debt $5,000,000.00 per month under the Earle administration and the New Deal.

At the end of the fiscal year on May 31, 1937, the deficit in the State Treasury will be $60,000,000.00, according to Charles A. Waters, State Treasurer.

To balance the budget for the current bi-ennium, the Earle administration would need an increased income equal to a tax rate of five mills on the total assessed real estate in Pennsylvania.

On this basis — if state taxes were collected on real estate — the property owners and tenants in Bucks county would return $530,000.00 to the State Treasury before next May.

Property owners in Lehigh county would be called upon to pay an increased taxation of $1,090,000.00; in Northampton county they would pay $820,000.00; and in Montgomery county $2,305,000.00.

The total assessed valuation of the State for tax purposes is approximately $12,000,000,000.00. A tax rate of five mills on this valuation would net the State Treasury $60,000,000.00 — the amount needed to balance the budget.

"Here is a fine example to illustrate the rate at which the New Deal is piling up debt in the Commonwealth," M. Harvey Taylor, Republican State Chairman, declared in Harrisburg today.

"Taxpayers know that the Earle administration is squandering millions but too often they forget that they are the persons who must pay the bill."

"When we are slipping back at a rate equal to a five-mill tax assessment on all the real estate in the Commonwealth, we are slipping back mighty fast," Chairman Taylor concluded.

State Treasurer Waters, in reviewing the financial situation in the State, points out that the drain on the general fund during last year established an all-time record for spending in the Commonwealth.

Attack On Roosevelt's
Campaign Policies

SAYS PEOPLE AROUSED

By William K. Hutchinson
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

ABOARD LONDON SUNFLOWER SPECIAL, Enroute To Oklahoma City, Oct. 23.—(INS).—Swinging across the Southwest along the old Santa Fe trail to invade Oklahoma, Governor Alfred M. Landon today delivered a blistering personal denunciation of President Roosevelt's policies and campaign tactics.

The Republican nominee charged the President with seeking re-election while concealing facts about his Administration and without a full disclosure of his future policies. He accused the executive of "dissipating the people's resources through waste, graft and incompetence," and with "using the people's money, directly and indirectly, to secure his reelection."

Declaring the American people were aroused at last to Roosevelt's "reckless squandering of public funds and other people's money," Landon charged the President with secretly planning, if reelected, "to bring within Federal Government the control of all our commercial, industrial and social problems."

Roosevelt policies, he said, already have "pauperized the Federal Government and would now weaken and impoverish the people who support it." Landon again personally challenged the President to announce, before election, whether he intends to "revive the policies of regimentation" in the face of adverse court decisions. Thus far in the campaign, he added, the President by concealing facts has "violated the principle of truth in government."

"He is attempting," said Landon, "to sell himself to the people of this country without full disclosure."

NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF CUBBING VISITS COUNTY

William C. Wessel is Visitor
At Scout Headquarters,
Doylestown

CUBS' ACTIVITIES

William C. Wessel, National Director of Cubbing of the Boy Scouts of America, visited the Bucks County Scouting Council this week. Mr. Wessel represented the younger boy program of Scouting.

Cubbing is for boys of the nine to 11 age group. The boys meet weekly in small neighborhood groups known as dens. A large monthly meeting is conducted by the Cubmaster and the Assistant Cubmaster in the combined groups of dens, known as a pack meeting.

Activities, games, hobbies and crafts developed around an advancement plan makes the program appealing to boys. Bucks County Council has twelve packs. There is a local Cub Pack meeting, sponsored by Bristol Presbyterian Church, with Ralph B. Scheffey, Cubmaster, and Horace Longstreth, assistant cubmaster. There are also cub packs at Andalusia and Newportville, with Joseph Kish Cubmaster of the Andalusia Pack, and Herman J. Becker, cubmaster of Newportville.

Scout Executive William Livermore arranged two group meetings for Director Wessel. The afternoon was devoted to a study of the Cub situation in the Council. At 6.45, the leaders from Doylestown, Perkasie, Sellersville, Quakertown and Milford met in the Bucks County Administration Building, Lower County Leaders from Langhorne, Newtown, Morrisville, Bristol, Newportville and Andalusia gathered at the Langhorne Community House at 8.30 for a conference with Mr. Wessel. Supplementing Mr. Wessel's remarks was an excellent moving picture of Cub organization and activity.

For 16 years, Mr. Wessel has served as assistant national camp director, serving the organization in addition to a large number of national and international activities, including the direction of the Mohawk Indian Village at the Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass., the Oregon Trail Encampment at Casper, Wyoming, Director of the American Delegation to the 1924 Jamboree in Denmark. Activities Director for the 1390 Scouts who went to Birkenhead, England, in 1929.

LESS GOVERNMENT IN FARMING IS THE NEED, SAYS K. C. KING

Manager of King Farms Addresses Members of The Exchange Club

AT SESSION HERE

"No Gov't Can Aid Farmers
Already Pauperized by Too
Many Acts of Sympathy"

"What we need is less government and not more government in farming," said Karl C. King, head of the King Farm Company, last evening, when addressing members of The Bristol Exchange Club.

Mr. King is one of the outstanding agriculturalists in this part of Pennsylvania, supervising the cultivation of thousands of acres of farm land in one of Bucks County's most fertile sections, extending from Tullytown to Morrisville, through the Penns Manor area. Produce selling for over a half million dollars is gathered from these lands annually.

Mr. King, in addressing the weekly meeting of the Exchange Club, held in the Elks Home, said: "Agriculture is very much in politics, but in discussing the subject of political agriculture, I shall not transgress the rules of your club by making it a partisan political speech."

"No government, regardless of its high motivating intention, can permanently aid farmers already paperized by too many acts of sympathy," declared the speaker. He added, in part: "The aid in every form extended has been an absolute detriment and a hindrance to the industry as a whole, all pointing to the conclusion that we need less of it, and not more."

"Agriculture, more than any other line of industry is working in the open, subject to all the uncontrollable factors such as sun, rain, wind, temperature, and the seasons. These variables are so unknown and unpredictable that any farmer has a real job in trying to balance and regulate his own production, yet we have wiseacres in Washington who would propose to plan and regulate the production of the whole United States. If the weather man fails to co-operate, and produces too much, they would kill and plow under the surplus in their attempt to level out the ups and downs of prices. They do not believe in fluctuating prices, they do not believe in alternating periods of prosperity and depression. In short, they do not believe in the law of supply and demand, and propose to throw it out the window and set up their own scheme of regulating nature in production, and humans in consumption. They believe economic cycles are the results of the ignorance of the many, and therefore, would circumvent them by a new order based on the wisdom of the few."

"When a government conceives it as its duty to keep all commerce and industry in balance, it begins to concoct schemes of regulation which ignore the fundamental law of supply and demand, and soon we are all OUT of balance. I object to too much balancing as a function of government, not because I see no misery in times of depression, but because I have no confidence in the wisdom of any ONE OR A DOZEN government officials in prescribing the balance. No human can possibly comprehend and understand the multivariate factors involved in the social and economic order of a whole country like the United States."

"The troubles of agriculture during the last ten years are mainly a result of the determination of the government to avoid deflation in agriculture following the war. Agriculture did not share in the prosperity of the late twenties simply because the government, by its extension of aid, refused to let farming adjust itself to the consumptive demand of the early twenties. "The principle instrument of government interference has been the extension of credit."

"Our history of farm credits is not a story of credit expansion and contraction in line with profits—just one long story of credit expansion regardless of profits. Thus, the farm credit balloon has been blown bigger and bigger while all the economic rules governing farm profits were crying for a shrinkage."

"AAA with its rapid expansion of Production Credit Associations, worked in one direction, and its crop control programs work in the opposite by cutting down the acreage of corn, wheat and cotton, and slaughtering the crop of young pigs. Over 800 million was spent specifically for curtailment of crops and live stock, but at the same time, production was supported by additional loans of the Farm Credit Administration totalling $3,704,000,000 of which $1,349,000,000 was loaned specifically on short term notes for production. The last report on the production credit loans, says, 'nearly a million dollars a day is going to farmers in loans for production of 1936 crops and live stocks.' An increase of 17% in the number of farmers obtaining loans was reported for the first five months of 1936 compared to 1935. Is it not apparent from these

LIKING FOR GOOD BOOKS

There is something disarming to the critical spirit even at its fiercest, in the subject of children's reading. It is closely knit up with the most precious early memories of most parents and in one to which the parent with the well-being of the child at heart must give much serious thought during formative years.

At all times of the year there unwind before teachers, librarians and others acquainted with books a constant procession of frankly bewildered parents. Vaguely they feel that their children are not reading the right books and very often they lead a vain quest for the "right" literature.

It is more than possible that the puzzled parents are reading the wrong books themselves; but, urged on by a lovely and pathetic instinct akin to that impulse which causes father and mother to slave and sacrifice for their children, they want their progeny to avoid their mistakes, read only the best books and be the better for it.

No parental persuasion is necessary to create in the child mind an interest in the fairy tale and the school boy and girl come naturally, by their love for romance and adventure. It is adolescent youth that needs wise and tactful guidance in the selection of reading matter.

A fondness for good books doesn't just happen. It must be cultivated in the child, as well as in the adult who did not acquire it in his youth or lost it in the transition from youth to maturity. Homes with good libraries well-read by adult members of the family seldom are the scene of juvenile revolt against helpful reading.

GULLIBLE RELATIVES
In a case of bankruptcy in St. Louis it is alleged that an estate was depleted by a payment of $25,000 to an unnamed man for arranging the release of a convict from a Michigan prison.

It is unnecessary to know what actually occurred in this case to see how easily the parole process lends itself to the designs of one pretending to have influence on an official decision which, sooner or later, will be made in any event. Unquestionably a great deal of money is handed over each year in this country to persons claiming to influence in matters of parole, for which they either make no effort to intercede or, having done so, exert no weight one way or another on an official course.

The problem of carrying the nudist through the winter with no sacrifice of principle has been given earnest thought by the dealers in gents' wear, who now announce a "window-pane plaid."

The triple threats this fall are all in Spain, or so we judge from the way the fighting senorita holds her rifle in the photographs.

POCKETBOOK FACTS ABOUT YOUR TAXES

Steel Penalized Heavily

Taxes paid by the chief companies in the steel industry in 1935 were equivalent to a full year's wages for more than 57,000 employees. The year 1935 was one of relatively low profits for this industry, but the total tax bill of these companies, nevertheless, is estimated at as much as $773,000,000.

The taxes amounted to 4½ cents out of each sales dollar. The figures are for 16 companies which represent 85 per cent of the steel-making capacity of the country.

The United States Steel Corporation paid $38,400,000 in taxes in 1935, an increase of nearly $3,000,000 over the previous year. It expects to pay $3,500,000 more in taxes in 1936 than in 1935. Bethlehem Steel Company's taxes increased by $1,400,000 in 1935.

ON DISPLAY at all Buick Showrooms

SENSATIONAL is the fervor with which the American public has taken to its heart the brilliant motor cars offered by Buick this year.

Indeed, the sweeping success of the 1936 Buick program flatly challenged us and our great parent General Motors to a momentous decision.

Should we continue this amazingly popular line of cars into next year, perhaps the prudent thing to do—or should we dare broad improvement upon their spectacular excellence?

We felt there was only one right answer to that question, the bold and progressive answer—and that's why insiders now forecasting 1937 are already saying: "It's Buick again!"

That's why on top of $15,000,000 recently spent re-tooling and re-equipping Buick's great plant, we appropriated and are now spending $14,500,000 more.

That's why every car in the 1937 Buick line—the SPECIAL, the CENTURY, the ROADMASTER and the LIMITED—is a triumph visibly and intrinsically outshining anything we have ever done.

Each has more beauty for dazzling style, more power for breath-taking action, more room for full-family comfort, more downright "road-command" for safety and pleasure.

See them—then you'll know why Buick's soaring sales curve is headed for yet loftier altitudes next year.

YOU'VE GOT WHAT IT TAKES!
You can afford the new Buick. It's easy to buy and thrifty to own. With all its quality, its phenomenal performance and stunning style, prices start as low as $765 and up list at Flint, Mich.
General Motors terms to suit your liking. Safety glass included, accessories extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

Veterans Are Told That Roosevelt Must Be Defeated

and has been close to the affairs of government. The Chester county speaker also called to the mind of the listeners that "both Landon and Knox have fine service records with honorable discharges."

"And I question the right of Roosevelt's claim to membership in the American Legion. He was a civilian employee during the war and did not serve as did Landon and Knox."

Dague also mentioned Farley and said, "he was 29 at the time of the War, but he claimed exemption so that he could stay at home in New York and organize the Democratic party."

Should Roosevelt, by any stretch of the imagination, be returned to power in November then he can and probably will assume the powers of a dictator. It is up to the veterans to stop this. Comrade Landon and Knox, as well as a number of your State candidates, including Gardner and Pinola, all are veterans and understand your problems. They are the men who must be elected on November 3rd.

Dague also pointed out the waste in Government under Roosevelt. "Roosevelt," Dague said, "promised a 25 per cent reduction in governmental expenses, but the only economy that he has achieved has been at the expense of the Veterans."

"Earle likewise has no interest in the veterans. He is more concerned with setting up class hatred and setting one class against another."

"There is only one way to eliminate this deplorable condition. We must elect Landon and Knox on November 3rd. And we are going to victory with an overwhelmingly just cause—to give America back to Americans!"

J. Leslie Kilcoyne, speaking as an American citizen and not as a member of any political party, said, "The cornerstone of our organization is Americanism and it is being slowly but gradually dissipated and taken from us."

"A short time after Roosevelt took his oath to preserve, defend and uphold the Constitution he turned his back on it and he has continued to do this ever since. Can you as veterans accept a commander-in-chief who has broken every promise he has ever made since he has been in office?"

"There is only one remedy for the situation: The veterans must promulgate the ideals of Americanism—a true love of country, a right to seek your own way of earning a livelihood, and this can be accomplished only by ousting the present administration."

J. C. Schmidt, Jr., acted as chairman of the meeting and also gave a few pertinent remarks showing how the present Administration is opposed to aiding the veterans.

finally caught up with the booming in the distance and came up by our first battery. Just before we got there we passed a battalion of the Legion resting in a ditch and as we passed them suddenly came the whispering sigh of an enemy shell just over our heads.

We dived headfirst for the ditch and I had to laugh as we lay there waiting for an explosion that never came. The shell struck only a few feet away from us, but the Legionnaires yelled: "That's all right, those shells keep coming over here and you'd better not walk in the middle of the road the way you were doing, but you don't have to be scared of the shells unless they hit you square, because they are all duds."

HIGH SCHOOL BUNNIES TO PLAY BRYN ATHYN

(By Louis Tomlinson)

Coach "Bill" Dougherty's high-flying Bunnies invade Bryn Athyn to battle the foes from the Academy of the New Church, better known as Bryn Athyn Academy, on the latter's field, this afternoon at 3.30.

Bristol will go into the game a slight favorite in respect to their superior record over the Churchmen. However, the Academy boys rate no pushover and will try to "kill two birds with one stone" in attempting to win their first game of the season and at the same time avenge last year's defeat at the hands of the Red and Gray.

Last year the Scarlet and White squad smothered the Cardinals' running attack, and it was only through the medium of the air that Coach Dougherty's proteges were able to score their victory. In anticipation of the same circumstances, Coach "Bill" Dougherty and the boys feel a bit uneasy as they made final preparations for the game. It is their belief that they may also stop the local aerial attack, and if they do, then the news may not be bright tonight.

The Bishops will be led by Captain and Quarterback George Heilman, who can run, punt, and pass with equal effective skill.

Another consideration is the fact that Coach Stan Ebert is a graduate of Duquesne University of Pittsburgh, who beat Pitt U. 7-0, last Saturday, which makes them one of the best teams in the country. This will have no bearing on the final outcome of the game, but being a Duquesne alumnus, Coach Ebert uses his Alma Mater's system, which is quite mysterious and fast, and may baffle the Bunnies, once they open the Duquesne bag of tricks.

Bill Dougherty, on the other hand, has been drilling on defensive work this week in order to stop the Bishops. He has stressed on pass defense, blocking and tackling.

The two teams are practically even in weight, with Bristol having a four-pound edge. Bryn Athyn has eight letter winners from last year's squad on this year's team. Also, Bristol is the only public school the Churchmen play, and the fact that today is charter day—a big annual event there—adds to the prediction of a good game.

The probable line-ups:

Bristol	position	Bryn Athyn
F. Mignoni	center	Gid Alden
Hatcher	right tackle	G. Gyllenhaal
Vanzant	right guard	Fine
White	right end	Rose
Bauroth	quarterback	G. Heilman (c.)
H. Johnson	right halfback	Wille
Orazi	fullback	Bob Alden

PREDICT RECORD FOR HUNTERS IN PENNA.

Warning for Hunters

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—(INS)—"Do not mix firearms with fire-water."

This is one of the safety rules the Game Commission is urging hunters to follow as they prepare for the opening of another season. "Hunting accidents must be reduced in Pennsylvania, and killing a fellow hunter in mistake for game is never justified," Major Nicholas Biddle, president of the Board of Game Commissioners, said. "The person responsible, if apprehended, must pay anywhere from $500 to $100 to the estate of the person whose life is taken. In addition, if the Court deems, he must serve imprisonment from two to five years, and his hunting license is revoked for ten years."

Urging that hunters use every precaution while afield, the commission laid down the following regulations:

- 1—Always wear red, and plenty of it.
- 2—Never carry loaded guns in automobiles.
- 3—Never pull a gun through a fence by the barrels.
- 4—Do not lay your gun where it can easily be knocked over.
- 5—Never point your gun.
- 6—Do not shoot too close to CCC camps or sections where WPA employees are working.
- 7—Do not shoot within 150 yards of occupied farm houses or buildings.
- 8—Always keep your outline discernable to other hunters.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—(INS)—Pennsylvania will soon a-hunting go again, and the State Game Commission is predicting another record smashing year.

Although the game supply was somewhat depleted last year because of the severe winter and record kills, Seth

One of the classic football battles of the eastern list is the annual Dartmouth-Harvard fracas at Soldier's Field, Cambridge, Mass. Johnny Harvard is ready to atone for last season's 14-6 defeat by the Big Green with Bobby Jones at center and George Roberts, a promising back in a broken field. Joe Handrahan, at guard, leads a strong Dartmouth line into the fray.

Gordon, secretary of the commission, reports the Commonwealth has enjoyed an excellent game breeding season coupled with large game purchases.

He warned, however, that the grouse supply will be endangered if hunters are indiscriminate with these birds.

Since last hunting season, Gordon said, the commission has released more than 20,000 ringneck pheasants, 1300 wild turkeys, 300 quail, 52,000 rabbits, 200 raccoons and 100 wild ducks.

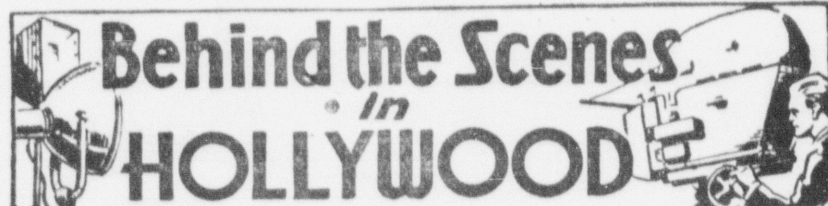

Gordon reported that more hunters are securing licenses earlier this year than for many years back, which indicates, he said, more hunters will probably be afield this year than ever before.

The commission has closed the season on snowshoe rabbit or varying hare because of the animals' scarcity, and the commission reports there will be no season on Hungarian partridges, Chukar partridges or Reeves pheasants.

The commission reported the following seasons for all small game and fur-bearers:

Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc. HOLLYWOOD—There is a side to Hollywood quite different from the parade of silver fox capes, the $15,000 automobiles and the fabulous cocktail parties where champagne and caviar are served to 300 guests. A story we heard about the Crosby family illustrates just what we mean.

Until the other night, the formal dining room in Bing's new house had never been used. Dixie and Bing have always preferred to eat with the three kids in one of the nurseries.

At last, however, they got the idea of how to christen the room. They asked Brother Larry and his two youngsters over and the whole crowd played hide-and-seek among the chairs and draperies.

Kids running about instead of stately treading butlers.

Though "Mother Carey's Chickens" is now put off until after another Astaire picture, Ginger Rogers didn't dye her hair brown to no avail. It has proved a perfect disguise from the autograph seekers haunting the new house the star is building. They have showed up in swarms since the architects' drawings of the place were printed in a local paper the other day.

Speaking of architects, James Stewart is rumored as the silent partner in a new firm now being organized. Stewart studied architecture four years at Princeton and has drawn the plans for the home he expects to build in Coldwater canyon after the first of the year. They are so good that the star's enthusiasm for the craft is aroused all over and he'll give vent to it by backing a couple of friends in a commercial venture.

You Asked Me and I'm Telling You! Rose Labowitz, New York City: You may be reassured, Bill Powell will suffer no permanent ill effects from his sunburned, or more correctly, wind burned eye. Using a powerful magnifying lens, specialists finally discovered a tiny pit in the ball of the eye. They treated this and the trouble is rapidly disappearing.

It's news, I believe, that Maureen O'Sullivan's mother and brother, Jack, are here to visit the star and her bridegroom, John Farrow. Maureen's brother is a lieutenant in the King's Own regiment and is on leave for his trip to Hollywood.

The reunion of the actress and her family will be of several weeks' duration.

Twin sons are newly born to the wife of Charles Phillips, 260-pound stand-in for Oliver Hardy. We give you two guesses as to what their names will be. . . . Yes, sir, Stanley and Oliver, after the Hal Roach comedy pair.

Here and there in Hollywood. . . . Rosalind Marquis gets out of an appendicitis operation, but she has to sleep at night with an ice pack on her side. . . . After the gossips had practically burst with curiosity, it turns out that the ruby and diamond ring Eleanor Powell has been wearing these last few days is a gift from her mother. . . . Robert Cummings has named his new airplane, of all things, "The Spinach".

. . . Seems as his family are vegetarians and the plane is painted green. . . . J. Walter Ruben, who certainly gets around, is now squiring Elizabeth Allen. . . . And Martha Raye's latest escort is Jerry Hopper, who is Glenda Farrell's cousin. . . . We didn't hear whether it was from fright or what, but Heather Thatcher, the English actress, is supposed to have lost 13 pounds chasing the ocean on the dirigible Hindenburg.

Today's Puzzle: What star, who is supposed to be able to see nobody else but a blonde actress, is secretly sending flowers to a dancing star on another lot?

figures that taxpayers' money is being used to subsidize production, and that more and more farmers are going down to the public trough for operating capital because this subsidized production is interfering with free adjustment of our national supply to our national demand, thereby keeping agricultural prices constantly below the point of reasonable profit. And, since planting is coming more and more to depend on the amount of credit obtainable from this government jackpot, is it not reasonable to conclude that a discontinuance of this credit would give us the quick adjustment in production needed to make prices rise to the point of producing farm prosperity?

"The credit subsidy is the worst of the lot, but all the others carry the same erroneous philosophy, the same idea that agriculture can't do its own planning and that government is bound to rescue and direct it, lest the Nation starve.

"It is inconceivable to me that the farmer who is not already destitute, can any longer believe that the government will, or can improve his opportunity as a private operator of a farm business.

"Take away special legislation—let the hardships of the game eliminate the un-needed acres and the sub-marginal land. Such action would give us prompt adjustment of supply to demand, with prices that would give a real business opportunity to those farmers still existing on their own. The public would save billions and yet need have no fear for its food supply—the profits of farming on that basis will hold all good farmers and attract others as rapidly as they are needed.

"I am convinced that farming without subsidy will support as many as with subsidy, that other lines of endeavor will quickly absorb the farm labor surplus, along with the other labor surplus, if we as a Nation stop figuring that the Government can miraculously rescue us from the depression. Leave industry free to produce goods. This alone can give us a higher standard of living among all the people, and a better market for farm crops.

"And true enough, the dumping of two billions of taxpayers' money into the lap of the farm population for doing nothing has temporarily cheered them up, and given them buying power which is generally interpreted as prosperity, but, unless we are going all the way to a completely subsidized agriculture under Federal Dictatorship, we must not fail to see that all of this money has done nothing fundamental except to delay the inevitable adjustment. It has merely lengthened the days of misery for the poor farmer who must continue permanently on government aid, or come suddenly upon the day of reckoning when he realizes he is swamped with debts and going nowhere. Then, if he is still capable of any serious thinking at all, he will realize that no government is able to throw out all the basic laws of economics and set up its own system of managing the heavens and the earth; that the ultimate result of benefit payments, production loans, mortgage moratoriums, debt adjustment, price control, allotment plans and land leasing, is the death of individual opportunity in farming and the degrading of farmers into a peasantry enslaved by aid and supported by subsidy."

SPECIAL LUBRICATION DEMONSTRATION!

An ATLANTIC LUBRICATION Expert, direct from Atlantic Headquarters, will be at my station on October 22, 23, 24, 1936. He will demonstrate the approved method of lubricating your particular make and model of automobile, precisely as its manufacturer recommends. And, of course, he'll use the same lubricants which took the famous Toms River Test Cars 100,000 miles apiece, WITHOUT lubricated engine-part repairs, and WITHOUT a single rear axle or transmission failure.

You are cordially invited to bring in your automobile for a demonstration. You'll be amazed at its smoother, more economical performance. All cars lubricated for $1 with our New Lubricating Equipment
